PHILOSOPHY SHOULD BE OFFERED AT MCC

Toward the end of last semester students and faculty alike affixed their signatures to a petition requesting the addition of philosophy to the list of courses now being offered at MCC. The value, the legitimacy, and the practicality of offering classes in philosophy at this college can not be argued.

First the credit would be fully transferable. The majority of major colleges and universities accept philosophy credit to fulfill part of the twelve credit requirement in social science in their Bachelor's degree programs. Without the addition of a philosophy course those students planning to major in this subject will be at a disadvantage when it comes to transferring. They will find themselves having to backtrack, for they will be required to take introductory courses before being able to continue in their chosen field. Thus, a loss of time and prolonged expense which could have been avoided if the two-year college they were attending had been liberal enough to offer philosophy.

At MCC students have demonstrated the desire that philosophy be offered here. The interest and the enthusiasm is present as evidenced by their petition. Will our students, who have often been termed apathetic, be denied their petition? If so, it can not be on the basis of unqualified or disinterested instructors for in this area MCC is not lacking. There is no good reason why philosophy could not be used as a part of the twelve credit hours required in social science for the Associate Degree program here at MCC.

Finally, philosophy is definitely an essential part of a well-rounded liberal education as well as an integral part of spiritual and intellectual growth.

Coatroom Marked for Improvement

The Student Government Association finally stopped talking and started taking action to improve the conditions existing in the coatroom. The first official act in the new coatroom renewal project was discontinuing the funds that the sororities Alpha Chi Beta and Theta Upsilon were to receive for their alleged services in the coatroom. That's right. The SGA will no longer tolerate irresponsibility in the running of the coatroom. The coatroom is a business and inasmuch as the clubs and organizations working there receive a portion of the proceeds in return for their service they will be expected to conduct it in a business-like manner. The many students who pay for the use of the coatroom have every right to expect the services they are paying for and have not been receiving as of late. You are not to get the impression that Alpha Chi Beta and Theta Upsilon are the only organizations who have been guilty of neglecting their duties in the coatroom for almost every club that has worked there has been warned and/or threatened with the same fate. It is just that the two sororities had the misfortune of being made examples of. It is hoped that the SGA's renewal project will be successful and result in a coatroom that is efficiently maintained.

Editorial Comments

Water, water everywhere—after four years the cafeteria finally has a drinking fountain that works. When it feels like it, that is. It seems that many of the drinking fountains found at MCC are afflicted with the same stubborn behavior. Under the circumstances a thorough examination by a competent plumber is most certainly called for. And with regular check-ups the situation could not recur.

* * *

The eventual coronation of the King and Queen of Snow for our Winter Weekend should be very interesting. Each candidate entered the competition as a result of a nomination from one of the clubs and organizations at MCC. Thus, making the candidates representatives of their clubs. When the voting begins on Thursday, February 10, and Friday, February 11, on what basis will students cast their ballots? What club will reign at Winter Weekend?

. . . There have been many complaints concerning the grade "F" and those who deserve it. Why should the student who attends class, tries to do the work, yet fails his tests deserve an "F" when the person who hardly ever goes to class and doesn't care, gets an "F" also? It seems rather unfair and unrealistic to grade a student on the basis of what is done solely on paper and not take into consideration what his effort has been.

. . . The Monroe Doctrine staff kindly extends the invitation to any interested student to join its staff for the remainder of the year. With more help from the student body and the faculty, the Doctrine could become a more resourceful and informative paper. The purpose of the school paper is to inform the student of what is going on in the school and make him a more interested participant. However, this can be achieved only through the co-operation and the concern of the majority and not just an interested few.

. . . The Student Court would like it to be known that as of the beginning of this semester, school rules and policies will be enforced. The issuing of summons is going to be more prevalent and strict. It would benefit all students to review their handbooks as to what these rules and policies are.

Letters To The Editor

Student Demonstrations Do Have Merit

To the Editor:

I wish to comment on an unsigned article that appeared in the January 14, 1966 issue of the Monroe Doctrine. The article, from the Intercollegiate Press Association, titled "Students Discuss Rights, Liberties," dealt with a recent meeting of the New Mexico Association of College Student Governments.

In the third paragraph, we were told that the student group couldn't agree on many foreign policy issues, but "unanimously (bold print mine) agreed that the recent campus demonstrations across the nation do not represent the majority of students." Unfortunately, I must agree that the student protest movement does not represent a majority. Most students are only concerned with getting a degree, so they can get the big JOB. They don't want to jeopardize their careers by joining the demonstrators, and besides many of these students are alienated from the intellectual life of the college. But the student demonstrators at Berkeley and other schools across the nation want to be treated as responsible college students, and they want to become a part of a meaningful intellectual life. In the classroom these students are told, for instance, that the Boston Tea Party, an act of protest, was a great, patriotic act, but when they go out to demonstrate, to practice their democratic rights, they are labeled "traitors," called "irresponsible" and often jailed. It seems to me, these students see the gap that exists between our high ideals and our tainted conduct. Last November at a Civic Affairs Association lecture, the Commissioner of Public Safety, Harper Sibley, Jr., pointed out how responsive young people are to corrosive behavior, when he said that "Youth in general have decided that everyone is crooked and that the best thing to do is figure the angles." The responsible student, I submit, is trying to act against the forces that he believes corrode and destroy our society. When we hear about a student demonstration, I think we should ask ourselves WHY. Might it not be about something worth a demonstration? Yes, I would be very proud to have a Mario Savio in one of my classes.

Prof. Osborn Reviews Novel

By ROBERT WILSON

Ushering in the new year, Prof. Frances Osborn of the English Department delighted students and faculty with a review of Kobo Abé's The Woman in the Dunes, on Friday, January 7, during the college hour in Room 301. The novel was written in 1960 and made into a movie in 1963. The work, according to Prof. Osborn, asks if freedom is a desirable goal for one to pursue. Abé here concerns himself with two types of freedom: objective and subjective. Objective freedom centers around the opportunity to be free to choose, whereas the subjective versions depend on private, rather than public criteria; in the latter case a nun can be considered free.

As Prof. Osborn stated, the novel raises the question whether modern man can know himself, find subjective freedom in our technological society. Abé, in this novel, seems to indicate that it is difficult, but that we must, if we are to remain human.

There was a good audience at the lecture. Everyone agreed that the review was interesting and thoughtful.

PETITION CALLS FOR MORE COMPLETE SPORTS COVERAGE

To the Editor:

We would like to thank you for including women's sports in the Doctrine. What we would really like to know is why it is such a big secret as to what the scores are and what schools have been played. There are people in this school who are as interested in what is happening in women's sports as they are in soccer, cross-country, gymnatics, basketball, and intramural men's sports. Of course these teams are interesting and have brought honor to MCC and their members have worked hard to do so. What about the girls who also spend their own spare time practicing for MCC teams. The ones who also travel away to play schools like Fredonia, Buffalo, Brockport, U of R, and Keuka? Doesn't this mean anything???

Students don't realize that their money is supporting these teams . . . and why ? ? ? We know that we like to know where our money is going!!! We think it is the responsibility of the school paper to let the students know how their teams have done!!!

WHAT IS THIS, DISCRIMINATION OF THE SEXES IN THE ATHLETIC FIELD AT MCC??? We think that girls, having a great majority of the student body, here at MCC, should have AT LEAST an equal share in the school newspaper!!

We sincerely hope something is done to rectify this problem very soon.

(Signed by 135 Students)

Editorial Reply

SPORTS EDITOR ANSWERS PETITION

The reply to this petition is directed, not only to the 135 students who signed it, but rather to the few individuals who took their time to compose the letter and get the signatures. Although the writers of the petition stated that the girls have a large majority in this school, approximately 1/3 of the signers were male students.

One question that came to our minds when we read the letter was: How many of these 135 students actually attend the women's sporting events? Some of the signees belong to the different women's teams but most of them probably have not seen a sporting event in this school.

There are many facts concerning our reporting of women's sports that no one seems to realize. First of all, there are only three of us who have to obtain all of the information and write all of the stories on sports. Lori Wells has the large responsibility of taking care of all of the women's sports. Perhaps someone who took time to sign the petition might take a little time to help write the stories. So far people have only criticized.

It was stated in the petition that they would like to know why the scores and competition are kept secret. So would we!!! Every time Lori goes over to the CYO to get information for her stories: (1) no one is there with the information, (2) the information is locked up and no one can get it except the team coach, (3) the coaches, themselves, do not know who is on the team, when they are scheduled to play, or any other data, (4) the coaches will not give out the information because the team lost by a large margin; they came in second far back of first, or the scores weren't recorded. With this kind of "help" how can we possibly give the students of MCC complete sports coverage?

Professor Solves Problem of Draft Riots By Eliminating Draft

Ann Arbor, Mich.—(I.P.)—Draft riots may disrupt the nation's college campuses unless Congress moves toward elimination of the draft, according to a recent statement by Associate Professor Ross Wilhelm of the University of Michigan, Graduate School of Business Administration. Wilhelm says left wing student groups are planning demonstrations, including civil disobedience, for this fall over Vietnam and the draft.

"While most students support our country's position in Vietnam, the latent anger over the slave labor aspects of the draft is so strong they probably will follow this left wing leadership."

"The tempers of many college students are high enough over the vicious injustices built into the draft system that there is a potential for violence comparable to the Los Angeles riot on American campuses. The draft is foremost in the minds of most college students."

Professor Wilhelm believes that "the draft is just one way to get people to perform military duties" and that a better way is just to get people to perform military duties by increasing the pay and base it on volunteers who join because they want to. The draft is just a substitute for adequate pay, he says.

He reports that the "Students for a Democratic Society," a left wing group, is planning a nationwide student strike over Vietnam during the first ten days of December. During the strike students will leave their classrooms to stage sitins and protests at campus military and research installations. He says also that there will be student protests—with local acts of civil disobedience—at 30 to 40 campuses across the country.

"Actions such as these are as dangerous as smoking in an ammunition plant in view of student attitudes toward the draft," Professor Wilhelm suggests. He points out that student agitators are using the argument that draft-exempt college students have the moral duty to fight against "the coercion of youth into the war machine."

"My own observations lead me to believe that during the past few months almost any effective organizer could have put thousands of college students, on almost any campus, into the streets in a violent demonstration against the draft. Given a time when students are under pressure as with exams, little more would be needed than a group running through the dorms at night shouting, 'let's riot against the draft.' The students rallying to such a cry wouldnt' know, nor care, if the ones at the head of the mob were carrying signs protesting Vietnam.

"We should recognize that the civil rights movement has trained thousands of students across the country in the techniques of mass demonstration." Also in recent years we have seen students demonstrate violently over issues of less personal importance to them than the draft—over the issues involved at Berkeley for example. Professor Wilhelm points out that about 100 years ago, during the Civil War, there were a number of draft riots across the country.

JYM&WA Presents In White America; 'Good Theatre'

The Jewish Young Men's & Women's Association Drama Center (corner of North and Andrews Streets), will present the moving documentary drama, In White America as their second production of the season on February 10, 12, 13 at 8:30 p. m.

G. Roy Levin, JY Drama Director, believes his group can "become a vital cultural force in Rochester." Their first production of Harold Pinter's "The Dumb Waiter" and Max Frisch's "The Firebugs" did establish the center as a stimulating force in the cultural life of the community. Particularly enlightening, according to those who were present, was the panel discussion of the two plays after the last performance. It is not yet known if the Drama Center will repeat this idea for In White America.

Free tickets to this play are available to students in the Student Activities Office, Room 230.

"In White America . . . makes good theatre because it is true, interesting, and overwhelmingly important . . . it is theatre . . . in the best sense: moving, funny, humane, genuine, and, best of all, unflaggingly provocative . . ." John Simon, The Hudson Review.

Welcome New Frosh

Chapter Notes . .

The S.A.M. Chapter will adhere to a policy of sponsoring frequent activities for the management-minded of MCC. In prospect for the Spring Semester are a panel discussion in the field of personal problems and a film series on management topics.

More members are wanted for the S.A.M. Chapter. All students interested in management problems are eligible, and membership brings definite benefits. Those interested in joining may obtain information in the Student Activities Office, Room 230.

WINTER RENDEZVOUS WILL BE COLD AND SNOWY, BUT FUN

Snow has been special ordered for MCC's annual Winter Weekend to be presented by the Student Government Association on February 11, 12, and 13. Entitled Winter Rendezvous, it cannot help but be a cold and snowy success.

The East High School Auditorium will be the scene of February 11, Friday evening's entertainment show. Beginning at 8:00 p. m., it will feature the Donovan Sisters' songs, the swinging sound of Dick Burgess' trumpet, the saltant steps of the Carol and Bill Foster dance team, and the hilarious antics of comedians Teddy English and Lucky Lewis.

Saturday evening, February 12, couples, all in semi-formal dress, will proceed to the Green Lantern Inn to dance to the music of Bob Bruce and his band who will play from 9:00 to 1:00 a. m. A buffet dinner will be served and the Snow King and Queen will be announced.

Sunday, February 13, will be highlighted by a cabin party at Powder Mill Park, from 12:00 p. m. 'til . . . Besides tobboganing, dancing, and engaging themselves in snowball wars, those attending will enjoy the snow sculpture contest between the sororities and fraternities.

Winter Rendezvous is the result of the various chairmen's time and effort spent since the beginning of the first semester and during Christmas vacation and February recess. These diligent workers are: Sandy Wasserman, general chairman; Mary Ann Papalea, decorations chairman; Patty DeBrine, publicity chairman; and Bobbi Dobbertin, Snow King and Queen chairman.

Tickets for the entire weekend are on sale in the cafeteria for $5.00.

WHO WILL REIGN AS ROYAL PAIR?

The candidates for Snow King and Snow Queen of Winter Weekend have been chosen, according to Bobbi Dobbertin, chairman. The candidates and their sponsoring organizations for Snow Queen are: Sharon Dorn, Theta Upsilon; Carol Linh, Alpha Chi Beta; Valeria Villa, Hillel Club; and Sandy Wasserman, Sigma Iota Chi. Snow King candidates and their sponsoring organizations are: Bob Brighton, Theta Kappa Chi; Bob McMath, Kappa Theta Gamma; Bill Ward, Gamma Chi; and Jack Wylan, Ski Club.

Voting will take place Thursday and Friday, February 10 and 11, in the cafeteria.

MCC Fascinating to Delaware

Several administrators from Delaware recently visited MCC to study Rochester conditions in comparison with those in Delaware.

Dr. Paul E. Smith, native Rochesterian and assistant superintendent for instruction for Rochester city schools for nine years until 1963 and present superintendent of schools in Wilmington, Delaware, said, "We are interested in this college because it is a new one, and there are so many situations here that parallel with those of any new college in Delaware."

He stated further that "the legislators are fascinated that in three years it (MCC) has grown from nearly 700 full-time students to 2,200."

He indicated that a relatively small percentage of high school students are going on to college, and of those that do, many go out of the state. Since Wilmington is the "chemical capital of the world," there is a great need for trained people. The visitors all agreed that an institution is needed, but have not yet decided of what class it should be.

Senator Russell D. F. Dineen, a mathematics teacher in Wilmington High School and a member of the Senate Finance Committee, said the group came to MCC to resolve some questions as to how a college should be supported, financed, and set-up.

The legislators have hopes of putting a bill for a new college before the legislature in the next session and open the college in two years.

Mr. DuBois Honored By Fraternity

Mr. Eugene DuBois, Assistant to the President for Publications and Research, was recently selected to be invited to membership in the Alpha Omega Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa at Wayne State University.

This honor is extended to persons of good character, high scholastic ability, and evidence of dedication to research, service, and leadership in education.

Mr. DuBois was initiated into this national honorary educational fraternity for men on Friday, January 21, at Wayne State University, Detroit, Michigan.

Cultural Events Review

The Student Association and the Cultural Events Faculty Committee are planning a program of cultural events for the coming semester, which they feel the students will enjoy. Highlighting the program will be the famous British poet, Stephen Spender, and anthropologist, Ashley Montagu. Spender will read and comment on his poetry, Wednesday evening, March 16, 8:30 p. m., and Montagu will deliver a lecture, "The Dilemma of Modern Man" on Monday evening, May 9, 8:30 p. m. Both programs are scheduled for the College Auditorium. There will be four faculty lectures scheduled for the college hour in Room 308. On February 18, Professor Richard O'Keefe will lecture on "There's Nothing Wrong with Student Rebels Except . . . ," a topic that promises to be provocative. On March 11, Professor Joseph Granata of the Mechanical Technology Department will lecture on "Mission to Paraguay." Professor Granata is well-traveled and promises to have a lot of interesting things to say about Paraguay. James P. Walsh, the Dean of Faculty, will address the students on Friday, April 22 on the topic "U. S. Maritime Policy: Achilles Heel of American Defense." Dean Walsh taught at the Maritime Academy, Kings Point. Finally on May 13, Professor George McDade of the English Department will lecture on "Creating Creativity." Professor McDade directed last year's production of Everyman, and he also did some readings on college life at Orientation Week last September. The Student Association and the Cultural Events Faculty Committee are also planning to have Professor Walter Harding, Chairman of the English Department, Geneseo State College and an eminent Thoreau scholar, lecture on "Adventures of a Literary Detective." He will be here sometime in March. There are some other plans for inviting scholars from the area colleges to lecture during the college hour. The Doctrine will pass the information along to you when plans are definite. Of course, the Civic Affairs Association will continue its program of speakers on local communal topics, and the Society for the Advancement of Management will have prominent speakers from the business community.

The film series will continue to move along in high gear. These films will be presented in the auditorium on Wednesday evenings at 8:30. They will be free and open to the general public. Among the six entries this semester, the first film will be the classic German thriller M directed by Fritz Lang and starring Peter Lorre. (See Cultural Events Schedule for date.) This film was made in the last days of the Weimar Republic, and it makes pointed comments about mass hysteria, a device Hitler was to use so successfully.

Another excellent film in the series is the Soviet film, Ballad of a Soldier, which will be presented on April 20. The Russians, by the way, have produced some renowned motion pictures, ironically some of them under the Stalin regime. On May 4 we will see Vittorio de Sica's classic film, Umberto D, an example of Italian neo-realistic film making. And the final film of the series, May 18, will be three W. C. Fields shorts, "The Barber Shop," "The Pharmacist," and the "The Fatal Glass of Beer." The program is called An Evening with W. C. Fields.

The highlight, however, of the film series will be an MCC Night at the Dryden Theatre, Monday evening, March 14, at 8:00. Mr. James Card of the George Eastman House will speak on "An Introduction to the Film." The George Eastman House on East Avenue has one of the largest film archives in the world. The Student Association hopes all students, faculty and administration and staff will attend.

Perhaps, the most important event of this year's cultural program will be the professional New York production of Sean O'Casey's Pictures in the Hallway, to be presented on Friday evening, April 22 at 8:30. Owing to poor facilities at the college, this drama will be shown at the East High School Auditorium, Main

The Monroe Doctrine needs reporters (news and sports), feature writers, copy readers, art and layout staff members, circulation staff members, secretarial and typing staff members and students interested in the business management of the newspaper.

BASKETBALL SQUAD AHEAD; POSTS 9-7 RECORD TO DATE

MCC 80—Jamestown CC 68

Jamestown Community College invaded the East High gym on January 7 full of confidence after an impressive victory over Alfred Tech, a team which had beaten MCC, 97 - 70. The Tribunes, though, had a few surprises for their opponents. Defensive pressure and the rebounding of Bruce McDaniel held Jamestown to 23 points in the first half while Monroe's shooters pumped in 33 points. In the second half Dick Cole and George Banks combined their talents to produce 33 points but the rest of the team could only muster 12. The final score read: MCC 80, JCC 68. George Banks and Dick Cole led the scoring for Jamestown with 27 and 24 points respectively. For Monroe Dick Helmbold gained scoring honors with 24 points followed by Pete Barrett with 17 and Dick O'Toole with 12. Bruce McDaniel used his tremendous rebounding talents to pull 24 misguided shots off the boards.

Brockport State Frosh 97—MCC 79

The MCC Tribunes fell victim to one of the strongest freshmen teams Brockport State has ever had by the score of 97-79. The MCC team did not look like the same one that had defeated Jamestown the night before as they threw the ball away 33 times during the game. Dobreski and Arnold led Brockport with 30 and 21 points respectively. Dick Helmbold connected with five field goals and nine free throws for 19 points. Steve Hess contributed 15 and Pete Barrett scored 13 to lead the Tribunes. As usual Bruce McDaniel led the rebounding with 17. Steve Hess was right behind Bruce with 15 grabs.

MCC 80—Auburn CC 79

Clutch plays by Dick Helmbold and Pete Barrett and the scoring talents of Dick O'Toole led Monroe to an 80-79 win at Auburn. Dick O'Toole's 12 field goals and foul line conversion coupled with his 14 rebounds sparked our team. Bruce McDaniel (19), Steve Hess (12), and Dick Helmbold (11) were the remaining Tribunes in double figures.

With less than 20 seconds remaining in the game MCC, down by 3 points, had possession of the ball. Pete Barrett scored to narrow the gap to 1 point. On the throw-in by Auburn, Dick Helmbold stole the ball, dribbled toward the basket, and scored to put Monroe ahead by one. This turned out to be the final point of the game as Auburn failed to score on a foul shot attempt with two seconds left in the contest.

MCC 69—Broome Tech 67

In one of the greatest victories of the school's young history MCC overcame the third-ranked basketball team of Region 3, the Broome Tech Hornets, 69-67. The game, which was played at RIT, drew less than ten students because of exams.

Gary Roth

Bob Stevens

The win was a complete team effort both on offense and defense. Dick Helmbold and Jim Murray at guards, Dick O'Toole and Bruce McDaniel at forwards, and Pete Barrett and Steve Hess alternating at center all put on one of their best performances of the year. The scoring for MCC was evenly divided as Pete Barrett (16), Bruce McDaniel (14), Dick O'Toole (14), and Dick Helmbold (10) all made double figures for the Tribunes. Steve Hess came into the encounter in the final few minutes to score seven points and spark the club to their win. Don Beary and Mike Steele combined for 36 points in the second half but they couldn't overcome Monroe's 37-15 halftime lead.

Niagara CC 91—MCC 83

For their next game Monroe Community College traveled to Buffalo for an encounter with Niagara Community College, a team which had previously defeated Erie Tech. On the strength of their rebounding power, the Tribunes raced to a 42-36 halftime lead. However, the second half belonged to Niagara as they used their speed and shooting accuracy to gain a 91-83 victory. Ron Bator led Niagara with 29 points followed by Dick Kijowski with 21. Dick Helmbold and Bruce McDaniel paced MCC with 26 and 23 points respectively.

RIT Frosh 78—MCC 73

The MCC Tribunes and the RIT Frosh met for the first time this year in an exciting overtime battle whose outcome showed RIT the victor 78-73. Monroe had the edge in the first half but a technical foul converted by Dan Viele proved to be MCC's downfall. The referee called the foul against the Tribune bench for comments which he overheard resulting from a call against our team. The real "culprit" however was a member of Gamma Chi whose enthusiasm got out of hand. This conversion gave RIT a "gift" of a point.

During the second half Dan Viele displayed his tremendous shooting skills with 25 points. He ended the game with 33 points including 7 points in the overtime period to edge MCC.

MCC finished the game with four players in double scoring figures. Dick Helmbold (18), Pete Barrett (16), Bruce McDaniel (15), and Dick O'Toole (12) led the Tribunes in defeat.

Cultural Events

Street East and Culver Road.

The Student Activities Office, Room 230, will continue to offer free tickets to students for a number of cultural events in the city. Mr. Charles Speirs, the Chairman of the Cultural Events Faculty Committee, believes the buying of block tickets to these events very important. The free tickets available to students will introduce them to the rich and varied cultural life of the community. Mr. Speirs reports that the use of tickets by students to City Club lectures, concerts by the Rochester Philharmonic and the Rochester Chamber Orchestras, the dramatic presentations of the Blackfriars and the JYM &WA have been very good. Mr. Donald Nemeyer, a member of the committee, assures us that Monroe Community College offers one of the best cultural programs in the State University system, better than many four-year colleges.

Women's Intercollegiate Swimming

Perhaps the hardest working group of MCC athletes is the women's intercollegiate swimming team. This sports contingent use many of their spare hours practicing for their meets against other colleges in the area. Under the guidance of their coach, Miss Klein, the team devote their mornings beginning at 7:00 at the Y.W.C.A. and their evenings at the Natatorium to improve their aquatic skills. All of the members of the team are looking forward to the state finals which will be held at Oneonta in March.

THINK AND THWIM

All male students tired of just floating around are invited to get into the swim and join the MCC Men's Swim Team. Mr. Roach has agreed to coach the team to victory during this, its first year. Since we do not swim against Yale this year, everyone allowed in the deep end will be welcome. Especially needed are those who can dive, or swim butterfly, breaststroke, backstroke, or freestyle. Those interested should leave their names and phone numbers in Paul Ferrante's mail folder.

Conley's Comments

There is a Hockey Team here at MCC that many students don't know too much about. This is because our Local newspapers haven't been writing about college hockey except when it concerns R.I.T. I would like to point out that our team has encountered a string of recent victories not yet matched by R.I.T. They have been scoring in the double figures, as far as winning is concerned, while R.I.T. has been losing the same way. Just recently R.I.T. faced a strong Oswego team and their goal-tender came up with a delightful 60 saves to his credit. This sounds fantastic except for the fact that Oswego pumped fourteen goals by him while his team only managed three. I wonder if our team can play R.I.T. to a SHOW-DOWN.

At our Sports Banquet, late last year, Dr. Good made a comment to the effect that he was proud of the Teams at MCC mainly because they have yet to place an ineligible player on the teams. Just recently for the second year in a row, Onondaga has placed an ineligible player on their basketball team. Last year Doug McDowell led his team to thirteen victories only to have the league find out that he was ineligible. This year Joe Otto and Dick Sampson were found to be ineligible. There seems to be some inefficiency in their Physical Education System.

To comment on one of MCC's most recent basketball victories and that was over Broome Tech: This was the first time that we have beaten them in the history of our college. It seems that every time we go to Broome Tech's home they seem to "buy" their own officials. Well they came to Rochester and we didn't have any officials for sale. Despite the fine efforts of Mike Steele and Don Beary, the Tribunes hung onto their slim two point lead and won out. It just goes to show that the prices in Rochester are higher than ever and you just can't afford to buy your own official, even for Christmas.

Physical Education Instructors' Outline to the Students

It seems that in this institution there are students that are not very familiar with their Physical Education Instructors. I would like to take this opportunity to give both the young men and young ladies a brief character analysis of each of them. This I hope will be beneficial to the students here at college. This will be in two parts.

Donald J. Bell has a B.S. and an M.S. from the State University at Brockport and Pennsylvania State. He is planning a Lacrosse Team here at the college. He assists Mr. Peglow with this Cross-Country team and is the school's Sports Publicity Agent.

David Chamberlain has a B.S. from Ithaca College. He has been coach of the Baseball teams here at the college. He has both coached and produced many fine All-Regional ballplayers. To add to the entertainment of the team, he brings along his sons. Those who have played on the team in the past have found that these youngsters are entertaining both ON and OFF the field. Dave has managed to step into the officiating field as of late. This was very helpful when one of the officials couldn't make one of the team's recent games. Dave stepped in to lend a hand. He is also a "FAIRLY" good paddleball player.

Catherine Klein has a B.S. from the State Univ. of Brockport. She has been responsible for the fine talent of our school's Cheerleading Squad. She was nice enough to represent the women instructors at our recent Sports Banquet. She also handles girls' swimming and basketball.

Joe Mancarella, if you don't already know, is the coach of the new National Junior Champion Soccer Team. He has a B.S. from the State Univ. at Cortland and a M.S. from the State Univ. at Brockport. He is Asst. Prof. of Physical Education and also handles Intramural Basketball. As a soccer coach he believes that no kind of weather holds up his practices and that is why we are the National Champs. In his past years of coaching, he has produced at least nine All-Americans.

BOWLING CHAMPIONS

★ ★ Dick Zimmer Standout For Champs ★ ★

The team of Dick Zimmer, Larry Miller, Pete Tiutiunnyk, and Bob Schneider gained first place honors and trophies in an exciting playoff victory over the team of Fran DisPenza, Ron Reding, Jim Kobey, and Ron Sippel. The two teams fought a close, high-scoring, three game series on the Moose Club alleys. The winner was not decided until the final few frames of the third game.

Third place trophies were won by Paul Cross, Bob Pascale, Don Mau, and Tom Doell in a playoff win over Gary Holthus, Art Marasco, Al Debyah, and Judy Vassalo.

The first place finish was a complete team effort. Dick Zimmer could be counted on for a high game in every clutch situation. It was often his three or four strikes in a row that overcame an opponent's lead and began his team on the road to victory. Larry Miller was the consistent member of the team who never faltered when his team needed a 170 or 180 game. Pete Tiutiunnyk began the season with a low average due to a long absence from the alleys. As the weeks went on, though, he regained his skill and accuracy. In the final weeks of bowling he was averaging around 190. Bob Schneider was a late addition to the team, but he was a welcome addition. He often bowled games far over his average to give his team much needed points.

Dick Zimmer

One of the top bowlers during the first half of the bowling program this year has been Dick Zimmer. Dick, an 18 year old Freshman, was one of the top bowlers at Greece Olympia High School. Last year his team led the qualifying teams with a 2876 in competition with the other high schools in the area.

In an AJBC League at Maiden Lanes last year he gained high average, high game, and high series honors. His high sanctioned game is 254. His personal high series was a 679 which he bowled on his favorite alleys—Maiden Lanes.

Dick is an active follower of many other sports at MCC. He is probably the only member of the student body who attends the MCC hockey games. He loves to watch hockey and cheers every great play which our team makes. Although the attendance at our basketball games is usually very small, Dick can always be counted on to be there. In recent weeks he has even helped to keep the records for Coach Monagan during the games. There should be more students with the school spirit that Dick has shown in his first semester here at MCC.
